Section 7. Terms of Reference

Terms of Reference for District Road Maintenance Engineer (DRME)

1. Introduction:

Nepal is one of the least developed countries in the world and has the second lowest GDP per capita in the South Asia Region. Poverty has reduced significantly in Nepal over the past decade. Between 2003/04 and 2010/11, the poverty headcount rate fell from 49% to 25% of the population. An overwhelming majority of this poverty reduction (over 90%) took place in rural areas, where 83% of Nepal's population lives. In order to continue this positive trend and to achieve significant development gains it is necessary to continue the effort to improve connectivity in rural areas. Improving connectivity throughout Nepal is a key consideration for ensuring that economic growth reaches rural areas. Access to markets, social and economic services, and assistance during emergency events directly depends on the quality of transport infrastructure available to rural communities.

The quality and all weather connectivity of transport infrastructure are generally poor. Many local road linkages only offer seasonal access on account of poor maintenance, low quality surfacing, or the absence of drainage and adequate cross-drainage structures. Nepal's rainy season (June – September) isolates many communities that only have access to seasonal roads. Haphazard road construction without proper engineering has also produced many unsustainable local roads and significant environmental damage. District authorities are struggling to upgrade seasonal roads and provide all-weather access.

The overall objective District Road Maintenance Program (Regular, Periodic, Emergency, Major) is for developing and maintaining district level rural transport infrastructure and to enhance the availability and reliability of transport connectivity for rural communities in all the 12 districts of the Lumbini Province.
